

Ashley Lee

Jazz, Contemporary, Turns and Legs and Leaps

Ashley Lee is a native of San Diego, California, and has taught at various studios and high schools throughout the San Diego and Orange County areas. Ms. Lee has won various Regional and Nationals titles for high school, All-Star and collegiate competitions.

She is also a four-time world champion in International Jazz and Pom.

Ms. Lee has participated in several parades, Holiday Bowl half-time shows and the Super Bowl. Most recently she studied dance with Unity Dance Ensemble under the direction of Tessandra Chavez. This opportunity has allowed her to dance on stage with Kupono, Ade, Shauna Noland and other contestants from the hit TV series "So You Think You Can Dance".

Ms. Lee is a graduate of SDSU with a bachelors in Kinesiology: emphasis on fitness, nutrition and health, and she plans on pursuing her teaching credential this year to teach health education. In her spare time Ms. Lee sings in a 10-piece reggae band called "Shoreline Rootz".
